

ABSTRACT

This invention describes a protein-free production process for proteins having factor VIII procoagulant activity. The process includes the derivation of stable human cell clones with high productivity for B-domain deleted Factor VIII, and (2) the adaptation of cells to grow in a medium free of plasma-derived proteins.

RECORDED BY AUTOMATIC DOCUMENT FEEDER
AT THE U.S. PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE